

RAJA ANAS

FRONT END DEVELOPER

Hey there! I'm a front-end developer, which means I specialize in building the parts of websites and web applications that users interact with directly. You know when you visit a website and click on buttons, scroll through pages, or fill out forms? That's all thanks to front-end developers like me. In a nutshell, I'm all about blending creativity with technical expertise to deliver exceptional digital experiences that leave a lasting impression on users
